GEN. MACOMB TELLS PLAN

Yesterday afternoon the officers stationed at Fort Shafter had the opportunity of hearing a full and illuminating statement of the plans for defending Oahu, formulated by the Macomb board, made by General Macomb himself. The department commander, accompanied by Major Conklin, chief of staff, went into the details of the plan pointing out the reasons for all the recommendations, and making a general summing up that was of exceptional interest.

Last Friday Major Conklin read a paper which went into the history of Oahu's military occupation and fortification, and General Macomb's talk yesterday brought the whole subject right up to date. Next Friday General Macomb will go to Schofield Barracks and take up the same subject with the officers of that post.

MRS. HASTINGS DIES SUDDENLY

Member of Old Hawaiian Family Passes Away in Portland, Maine

Mrs. Alice Hastings died suddenly at Portland, Maine, this morning and her funeral will take place there on Friday at 3 o'clock. The sad news comes to her relatives here in a cablegram which contains only the foregoing facts. Nothing is said of the cause of death, and no word had been received here that the deceased had been ill.

Mrs. Hastings was a daughter of the late Captain James Makee, a pioneer sugar planter on Maui and founder of the Makee Sugar Company on Kauai. She was a sister of Mrs. (Dr.) George Herbert, Mrs. Julia Macfarlane, Mrs. Helen Noonan and Mrs. E. D. Tenney, all of whom are in Honolulu, and of C. B. Makee, now engaged in the sugar industry in the Philippines. Her late husband, Frank P. Hastings, died suddenly in Washington during the presidency of McKinley, he being charge d'affaires for the republic of Hawaii at the time. He was stricken down at a diplomatic reception at the White House, being carried out unconscious and never rallying. Previous to the republic he was U. S. vice-consul general at Honolulu. Bishop Mackay Smith, who was here a while ago, conducted the funeral services of Mr. Hastings in Washington.

The late Mrs. Hastings would have been fifty-four years of age on the 24th of May next.

ROMANCE IN SENATE CHAMBER; COKE WEDS MISS EFFIE RILEY

Marriage Quietly Solemnized Last Night Made Known to Colleagues Today

Out of the maze of official business, out of the serried complications of official life, Senator James L. Coke has found time for romance and love, and this morning on his desk in the senate chamber old shoes, rice and roses, the insignia of the newly wed, were piled high.

And along with the news of his marriage last night, which was quietly solemnized at the home of Rev. R. E. Smith, these came the story of his romance, which began one day when he looked up from his sickbed at the Queen's Hospital into the eyes of Miss Effie Riley, his charming nurse.

It was several months ago that Senator Coke left the hospital, but the romance which began there did not end. Last night it met its happy climax, when in a big machine the couple, accompanied by "one mysterious man," stopped at the home of Rev. R. E. Smith, of the Methodist church, and the minister solemnized their marriage.

Although the story was out last night nothing was known of this in the senate until a few minutes to 10 o'clock this morning when a bearer of news whispered in the ear of President Knudsen that for the first time in the history of the legislature a senator had been married while in office.

Several varieties of old shoes were obtained, and a quantity of rice and roses. These covered his desk when he came in, making him shrink back in dismay. Then he smiled—and showed he was game.

Before announcement of recess was made, he rose and thanked his colleagues for their thoughtfulness, and risked that he could make the senatorial foot to which each old shoe belonged. His speech was cut short by a rain of rice and a burst of congratulations.

Miss Riley came here about two years ago, and was one of the most popular of the nurses at Queen's Hospital. Because of the senator's official business, they do not expect to go on an extended honeymoon at present.

Because of the death of Senator Coke's father very recently, the marriage was solemnized quietly and without elaborate preparations.

KOREAN METHODISTS END FOUR-DAYS' CONFERENCE AND STUDY

Following the annual conference of the Methodist church, which was in session for a week and which came to a close last Friday afternoon, more than one hundred Korean Methodists engaged in a four-day institute in the pavilion at the Peninsula, which ended at noon yesterday. The idea of the conference was to give those who attended special training in Bible study and Methodist work, and at the same time to increase the sense of national fellowship.

The conference commenced last Saturday afternoon, the delegation of ministers and laymen encamping on the lawn of the Hawaii Yacht Club and other convenient places placed at its disposal. It was perhaps the largest religious gathering of Koreans ever held, there being representatives from all the different islands as well as a number of prominent ministers and church workers from Honolulu.

Each day was begun with a Bible study class which was followed by a platform address lasting from 11 until 12 o'clock. From 12 until 3 o'clock the delegates engaged in various forms of recreation, when there was another address which lasted until 4:30 o'clock. Among the Korean speakers were Dr.

Sung Man Rhee, the noted lecturer and Christian worker, who is visiting in the islands in the interest of his countrymen; Rev. Hong, pastor of the Korean Methodist Church in Honolulu, and several other ministers from the various islands. Those who attended the meeting as representatives of the various Christian organizations in Honolulu, and who were also among the speakers, were Bishop Naphtali Luclock, Rev. R. Elmer Smith, Doctor Wadman, Lloyd R. Killam, E. S. Cooper, Paul Super, R. H. Trent and Judge Quarles.

As shown by the statistics compiled in the various reports presented at the annual conference of the Methodist Church, the work among the Koreans, as well as other nationalities, in the Hawaiian Islands, is increasing every year, and in order that the workers may be trained in the most up-to-date methods of Christian work, it has been found necessary to hold such conferences as the one at Pearl City which came to a close today. In this way the delegates of the various mission bodies, which are scattered throughout the islands may hear these plans and in turn carry them back to their constituents.

MRS. G. H. ROBERTSON IS LAID AT REST

With a profusion of beautiful flowers massed around the casket and chancel, impressive services were held over the body of Mrs. George Robertson in St. Andrew's Cathedral at three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Canon Ault officiating. Following the reading of the service, a male quartet sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The pallbearers were Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson, James B. Mossman, George Kluegel, Carl Schaefer, Senator C. F. Chillingworth and Samuel Walker.

Mrs. Robertson, who has been a resident of the Hawaiian Islands for the past fifty years, died at her home in Punahou last Monday morning after a lingering illness. She is survived by her husband, George H. Robertson, vice-president and manager of C. Brewer & Company; George M. Robertson, Mrs. James D. Dougherty, Mrs. Robert McElowney, Mrs. George Wallace and Miss Sybil Robertson. Interment was in Nuuanu cemetery.

NORMAN LYMAN SAYS COMPLETE AUDIT WANTED

Copies of the senate holdover committee's report came from the printer yesterday morning and were distributed among the members of both houses.

Norman K. Lyman, representative from Hilo and a member of the last Hawaii county board of supervisors, declines to discuss the Maguire scandal until he has scrutinized the senate committee's report.

"We were not satisfied with conditions in that office, however," he said. "We were unable to obtain satisfactory reports from the department and suspected things were not as they should be. In fact, several of us who were elected to the present legislature had agreed before election that if we were sent here we would work for a change in the county record system. My recent bill, providing for an audit two to four times a year of the county treasurer's and auditor's office by the territorial auditor, is the result, and our delegation is pledged to its support."

KAIMUKI'S PIONEER HOTEL ENTERPRISE

Allioli school building at Kaimuki, the property of Mrs. Mary E. Foster, which has been vacant ever since the school moved to larger and better quarters beyond Fort Ruger about fifteen months ago, been leased by Mrs. T. H. Gibson for this purpose, for which it is well adapted in the main, without great alterations, as it was especially built for a boys' boarding school.

The new establishment will be the pioneer enterprise in Kaimuki related to the hotel business.

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO. APPOINTS LOCAL AGENT

Albert B. Lambert, the local commission merchant, has been advised of his appointment as sole agent for the National Biscuit Co. of New York. The business of the company with the islands has been growing so rapidly that they decided to have a local representative to handle the orders for them.

The National Biscuit Co. is one of the biggest manufacturing concerns in the United States and is known everywhere for the quality of its goods. Mr. Lambert has plans to introduce the product in every household. The establishing of an agency by the New York firm shows that the New Yorkers think well of Hawaii as a business town.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Rev. David Carey Peters will give the second of his series of popular talks in Cooke Hall next Sunday afternoon when he will discuss the question of what a man must believe in order to become a member of a church. His talk last Sunday afternoon, which was with regard to whether a man can be a Christian and not belong to a church, was skillfully handled, and an interesting meeting is promised for next Sunday.

The association is in receipt of a letter from Dr. John R. Wood, general secretary of the World's Christian Students' Federation, confirming his previous announcement that he will be in Honolulu on April 30. Mr. Mott is perhaps the widest known Christian worker in America today, and his visit here will be one of great importance.

A dinner will be given in Cooke Hall next Friday evening at six o'clock for the male students of the College of Hawaii, at which time special features will be planned for the students in a way to follow up the recent local Men and Religion campaign.

The board of directors of the Young Men's Christian Association will hold its regular meeting at twelve o'clock next Thursday noon, at which time a special endowment report will be presented.
